SPRING/SUMMER 2019

Miko Miko is a newborn french fashion label that focuses on womenswear, homemade patterns and treasure like fabrics. Founded by the Parisian designer Dyane de Sérigny, music oriented graphic artist, the brand has contrasting inspirations from Bauhaus to swinging London, from Sonia Delaunay to Jean Paul Goude, from modern art to house music.

The garments are proudly made in Paris, on demand, by experts and craftsmen, merging fabrics from Japan, England and Italy.

Miko Miko's family is made of visionnaire artists and music groups, Pier Paolo Ferrari from Toilettepaper showed the way shooting the collections.
